other information

To aid differentiation this activity can be completed individually, in pairs or small groups. You could vary this for a class depending on individual pupils' ability. To extend the task you could give pupils an additional 60 seconds to justify their list.

instructions

This activity can be a short starter or plenary. The aim is for pupils to reflect on the lessons topic and name 8 things/points they would take on a desert island. To support this you could provide pupils with a scenario, piece of text, pictures or products to help prompt their thinking.

This is meant to be a quick mind mapping activity and a 60 second timer is available on the resource to time this.

Once pupils have completed their list you can randomly select pupils to feedback their findings.

If this is a plenary pupils should use this as an opportunity to reflect on the lesson.

The table below explains what each icon used on the resources key represents. The key is broken down into 4 categories:
